N°. 315.

ROME, October 26.

THE principal Perſons among the Roman Catholics of Ireland, both Clergy and Laity, having repreſented to the Pope the great Numbers of begging Friars which ſwarmed in that Country, with their ſcandalous Lives and Behaviour, and demanded a Remedy againſt this Grievance; his Holineſs remitted the Examination of their Complaints to the Congregation de Propaganda Fide, which, after mature Deliberation, made a Decree, to forbid the receiving of profeſſing begging Friars hereafter in Ireland; and it forbid, under Pain of Excommunication to the begging Friars, to enter into certain Houſes called Nunneries, of which there are many in Ireland; they were under the Direction of the begging Friars, and it appeared that many vile Practices were purſued there. Theſe Nunneries are likewiſe ſuppreſſed by a Decree from the holy Congregation.

Bruſſels, November 3. They write from Liege, that the Inhabitants of that Principality murmur extremely at their Prince's continuing ſo long out of the Country; and to his Abſence they attribute the Diſunion which ſo terribly prevails amongſt the principal People of that Biſhoprick, and the bad Situation that the Affairs of the Country are in, which are every Day growing worſe, by the irregular Steps which the Regents have taken, in reſpect to the Alterations that have happened in the Coin of the Low Countries. The Injury which this Principality will ſuffer by receiving Bullion at the Price it does, will be as conſiderable as that which it underwent in any Year of the late War; and in order to revenge itſelf upon the Low Countries, which are not the Cauſes of its Misfortune, they will not receive any of their Specie, but admit French Money to be current, which is in Effect cutting off the Noſe to prevent ſpoiling the Countenance, they being in this Reſpect the Dupes.

Prince Charles of Lorrain takes the utmoſt Pains to re-eſtabliſh Commerce in the Low Countries, which has greatly drooped ſince the late War. His Royal Highneſs has formed divers Plans for this Purpoſe, worthy of his Penetration and Attention, to promote the Intereſt of the Empreſs Queen, and he could not poſſibly fail of ſucceeding therein, if he was as much aſſiſted by the reſpective States of the Country, as by his prime Miniſter the Marquis de Botta, who is as active in this Reſpect as his Royal Highneſs. There is certainly Money in Brabant and Flanders, and there is a Poſſibility of bringing more thither, if the Members of the States of theſe Provinces could but be inſpired with patriotic Sentiments.

The Cardinal of Mechlin has lately had a long Audience of his Royal Highneſs, which, as it is very extraordinary, occaſions divers Conjectures.

The Clergy ſeem to apprehend, that the wiſe Maxims of France, in regard to their Body, ſhould be imitated here, where the King of France had in 1747 attempted to eſtabliſh the ſpecific Declaration of the Eſtates and Effects of the Clergy.

Berlin, Dec. 15. It has been reſolved, that the Ports which the King poſſeſſes in Pomerania upon the Baltic ſhall be repaired, and that new Works ſhall be carried on there, in order to facilitate the coming in and going out of Ships in them, and to favour Commerce in thoſe Parts.

Rittberg, in Weſtphalia, Dec. 16. The Night between the 13th and 14th of this Month, the Imperial Poſt who was going from hence to Naderborn, was attacked at the Heath of Delbruck, by a Highwayman, who after having ſhot him through the Body, tied the Horſe to a Tree, and went off with the Bag, in which were, beſides Letters, ſome rich Effects. We were not informed of this Robbery till the next Morning by ſome People who found the Poſtman dangerouſly wounded, and extended upon the Ground near his Horſe. He was brought hither alive, but died ſoon after.

Bruſſels, Dec. 10. Great Pains are taken here in forming Regulations for the Good of the Country. A Plan has been within a few Days talked of, and is actually formed, for rebuilding the Palace of the Dukes of Brabant, which was burnt about eighteen or twenty Years ago, and 'tis aſſured that a Subſidy will be demanded of the rich Abbeys of the Low Countries for that Purpoſe, and that, in caſe of their not complying therewith, they will be obliged to pay it in the ſame Manner that the French Clergy now are forced to pay their Taxes, namely, in Proportion to their Income, of which they would be very unwilling to be conſtrained to give an exact Account.

LONDON, November 24.

Extract of a Letter from Amſterdam, dated Nov. 20, 1750.

"All the News which we have lately received here from the Ports of France agree, that the utmoſt Diligence and Aſſiduity is uſed to augment the naval Force of that Kingdom.

By the ſame Advices we learn, "That ſomething of very great Conſequence has been lately treated of at the French Court. It is generally thought that it has been concerning an important Marriage."

"If it ſhould be that of Madam Henrietta with the Infant Don Lewis, as ſome People think it is, this would naturally lead us to believe, there is a Deſign to cement, in as ſtrong a Manner as poſſible, the ſtrict Union which there is between the different Branches of the Houſe of Bourbon; and People are apt to infer from thence, that this Union is not the ſole End aimed at, but that it is to be ſtill ſtrengthened by foreign Alliances, in order to counter-balance thoſe which his Britannic Majeſty brought about during his Stay at Hanover. The firſt that will be attempted of theſe Alliances, 'tis ſaid, will be one with the King of Sardinia. 'Tis pretended that there is really a Negotiation upon the Carpet between this Prince and the Crowns of France and Spain, and that a Treaty thereupon will actually be concluded, to enter into which other Princes will be invited."

December 29. From Cremona we have an Account of a tragical Affair that lately happened at Soncino, the Particularity of which is as follows. A young Lady of noble Extraction, but, it ſeems, not of noble Sentiments, forgot her Rank ſo far as to fall in Love with one of her Footmen; and the Laws of the Country not being quite ſo arbitrary as in ſome other Parts of Italy, to warrant the confining her to a Cloyſter in order to effect a Cure, the Lady gave way to her Inclinations ſo far as to reſolve to marry her Servant; than which there cannot be a greater Crime in Italy, it being better to commit Fornication, Sodomy or Beſtiality, than to match beneath one's Birth. But the Day before the intended Wedding, the Object of her Love was found murdered in a Ditch; and the young Lady, who ſeemed in good Health, died about the ſame Hour, ſuddenly, as is ſuppoſed, no Marks of Violence being found on her Body. However, as there was ſufficient Cauſe for Suſpicion, the Epiſcopal Court took Cognizance of the Affair, and ordered Inquiry to be made after the Aſſaſſins, who are ſuppoſed to be ſome of the Lady's Kindred, but all Informations were quickly ſtifled, and in leſs than a Week there was no more Noiſe made about the Murder of the Footman, nor of the ſudden Death of his intended Bride, who is ſuppoſed to have been poiſoned, leſt ſhe ſhould have brought the Aſſaſſins to Juſtice, or at leaſt cut them off from any Expectations they might have in her Fortune, which was very conſiderable.

Dec. 29. We hear that the late Repreſentations of our Court, concerning the Conduct of the French and Indians in their their Interest, on the Borders of our new Colony in America, have been answered as follows by the French Ministry: "That they had already sent Orders to their Subjects and Indian Allies to behave quietly: That they were very well satisfied their Governors and Officers would strictly observe those Orders; but that it was not in their Power to contain the Indians, nor alter their Dispositions towards the Subjects of Nova Scotia; neither could they hinder the French, that are settled in the Limits of the British Dominions, from quitting their Lands and Habitations, in order to retire into the Territories under the Dominions of his most Christian Majesty.

Jan. 5. By Advices from Stockholm it appears, that an Accommodation of their Differences with Russia become every Day more difficult to be effected, insomuch, that they begin to despair of keeping, 3 or 4 Months longer, out of a War; in the mean Time France has declar'd, that she will assist the Swedes against any Power that may attack them.

Jan. 12. Letters from Petersburg of the 29th of December, N. S. advise, that since the Departure of M. Wahrendorff, General Barnet, Embassador from the Court of Vienna, has received a Courier with Directions to employ his good Offices on all Occasions, where they may be used with Success, in order to prevent the ill Consequences of the Quarrel between the Russian and the Prussian Courts. In the mean while the Empress has sent Orders to the Governors and General Officers in Livonia, and the other conquer'd Provinces, to keep the Troops in readiness to march on the first Notice.

According to Advices from Poland, several Russian Regiments on the Frontiers of that Kingdom have receiv'd Orders to hold themselves in readiness to shift their Quarters.

Jan. 19. We hear that upon Enquiry being made into the Destination of the Squadron now fitting out at Brest, on board of which a great Number of Volunteers are to embark, with a fine Train of Artillery, &c. the French Court has made Answer, that the said Squadron is to go and make a Settlement at or near Anamabou, on the Coast of Guiney; and that she hopes the English need not take Umbrage at it. How such Answer has been relished, we are not yet informed.

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.

From Rhode-Island we hear, that William Carter (formerly mentioned in this Paper) is sentenced to be executed at South-Kingston, in that Colony, and hung in Chains, on the 10th of May next, for the barbarous Murder of one William Jackson; who, it is said, has a Wife, and seven small Children, in some Part of Virginia.
